Dear Members and friends.

The last few days have been very tough for us all, many have family and friends who live down south and in Lod and other areas, have children & grandchildren in the military.

For some of the newer members this is their first experience of military tension here.

Those of us who have lived here many years and gone thru' many unsettling military situations in the past, been in the military, we are used to adapting quickly and not going into panic mode, but for those who are experiencing for the first time (since the Blitz in WWII !) it can be different.

The most important message for all is that we must be positive, not panic and continue to go about our regular tasks and daily activities. Talk to your friends and family and share your concerns, a good chat helps to release tension and worries.

Check that you neighbours and friends are well especially those who live alone with family out of the country.

Services in the Shul are continuing as usual. We have a large shelter on the ground floor (the library) which is next to the men's restrooms, also the corridor outside the Rav's office is considered a safe area.

Should an alarm go off when we are in Shul, please, without pushing and shoving, go carefully down to the safe areas.

During the week we ask that all doors are kept locked and closed as much as possible for security reasons.

Please remember that we are still required to keep in line with the Health Ministry requirements of social distancing and wearing masks, as the Corona is still with us.

Wishing all our members and friends a peaceful Shabbat and enjoyable Chag.

Let us pray that our soldiers will keep safe and that our leaders will work together for the good of AM YISRAEL.

Hope to see you all back with us in Shul.
